LITTLE STANLEY STREET HOTTING UP FOR NRMA INSURANCE DANCING IN THE STREET

South Bank's Little Stanley Street is getting ready for some "hot moves on a cool night" ahead of this Saturday's NRMA Insurance Dancing in the Street event.

From 6.00pm on Saturday 28 July, visitors to Little Stanley Street will be able to experience up to 13 different dance styles including breakdancing, hip-hop, salsa, tango and swing and even get a free dance lesson.

South Bank Corporation Events Manager David Contarini said there was a huge buzz building up along the whole of Little Stanley Street in anticipation of the event.

"The NRMA Insurance Dancing in the Street event is set to be one of Brisbane's biggest and most exciting public dance events," David said.

"With so many different dance styles on show and the opportunity for everyone to join in and learn how to dance, there will be something for everyone to enjoy.

"Little Stanley Street will be closed to traffic for the evening and people are encouraged to join in the fun by participating in the free dance workshops or booking into the fantastic restaurants that line Little Stanley and Grey Streets.

"The festivities will start at 6.00pm and continue through to 10.00pm with performances and lessons starting at regular intervals throughout the night."

NRMA Insurance Queensland State Manager Brett Robinson said the insurer was delighted to help deliver the event to Brisbane for the first time.

"It's great to associate our brand with such a vibrant event and contribute to the community in which we work - with our Queensland office in the heart of the festivities" he said.
