Laugh and a Half – Australia's Funniest Home Videos Grand Final at South Bank

Expect to be on the ground in stitches when Australia's Funniest Home Videos arrives at the Parklands at South Bank to record the 2007 Grand Final show on November 27.

Australia's Funniest Home Videos host Toni Pearen says the quality of the finalist videos is amongst the highest the show has seen, with six clips battling it out for over $330,000 in prizes.

"This year's Grand Final show will showcase some hilarious videos that will have the audience rolling in the aisles with laughter," Ms Pearen said.

"We are looking forward to heading to sunny Queensland for the Grand Final, and South Bank will provide the perfect backdrop for the show."

Brisbane rock chicks The Veronicas will perform their hit single 'Hook Me Up' for the show's live audience at Suncorp Piazza.

Over 1,300 people are expected to attend the taping of the grand final show.

Prizes for the winning clips include a $200,000 cash prize from 3 Mobile, a Pajero VRX V6 Diesel Auto and Outlander VRX V6 5 seater Auto courtesy of Mitsubishi, and a top of the range JVC equipment package.

Australia's Funniest Home Videos is one of Channel Nine's longest running Australian programs, and is a regular ratings winner.
